Opus Plasma™

FRACTIONAL PLASMA.

Opus Plasma builds upon the popular and widely accepted science of fractional skin resurfacing and advances this field forward with an option that improves the patient experience using a novel, new energy source - plasma.

With Opus Plasma you can enjoy fractional skin resurfacing results with much less downtime. This treatment works by using plasma and making micro-thermal zones of fractional injuries to the skin. The natural healing process jump starts collagen production through a wound healing response, similar to how microneedling works. However, this technology uses radiofrequency and microplasma instead of needles.
